Health Tip - Donate Blood

Many studies have shown that donating blood can be a healthy choice by lowering the iron levels in your body. The following information was taken from the Life Source website and you may find it informational.

Lower Iron Levels

Lower the iron levels in your body every time you give blood, which can help reduce the risk of heart disease. According to CNN, high blood iron levels have the potential to increase the risk of cardiovascular disease because iron accelerates the oxidation process of cholesterol in the body, which damages arteries. Iron levels aren't the only factor that plays a role in a person's risk of heart disease, but there are certainly no downsides to lowering blood iron levels by donating blood regularly.

Reduce Cancer Risk

Give blood to help lower your risk of cancer. According to the Miller-Keystone Blood Center, consistent blood donation is associated with lowered risks for cancers including liver, lung, colon, stomach and throat cancers. Risk levels dropped in correlation with how often participants donated blood.

Reduce Heart Attack Risk

Improve your cardiovascular health overall by donating blood. Florida Blood Services reports that regular blood donors who donate regularly over years have an 88 percent lower risk of heart attacks and a 33 percent lower risk of any severe cardiovascular event, such as a stroke.

Replenish Blood

Help your body function more efficiently by allowing it to replenish your blood supply regularly. Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center reports that when you donate blood, your body replaces the blood volume within 48 hours of donation, and all of the red blood cells you lose during donation are completely replaced within four to eight weeks. This process of replenishment can help your body stay healthy and work more efficiently and productively.

APPEARING LIVE SUNDAY,
SEPTEMBER 11, 2011
ON THE MAIN STAGE
FROM 12 NOON-1:30PM

This unforgettable trio (Frank, Sammy and Dean) excited audiences nightly at the Copa Room and the Sands Hotel and Casino in Las Vegas, Nevada. With so much talent on stage together, these wild wonderful performers would set the standard tone for all those who came to Vegas throughout the Swinging 60's. How could these performances be anything less than historical?

The Chicago Rat Pack's show, "One Swinging Night" is perhaps one of the few special productions that shall become as timeless as the actual counterparts (Sammy, Frank and Dean). This fantastic show transports its audiences to a time when life was a lot less complicated. "One Swinging Night" is a brilliant reenactment of the "Summit." This was the period at which all three of the magnificent super-stars were at the prime of their wonderful careers.

These wonderful performances have been recreated with remarkable accuracy. Critics all proclaim "One Swinging Night" as being as close as any person could come to experiencing the original Rat Pack. At times, these three actors seem to transcend reality by totally becoming the characters they portray. Along with this and the fact that each member of this cast is very talented in his own right makes "One Swinging Night" a show that must be seen!

HELPFUL INFORMATION FOR RESIDENTS:

GUIDE DOGS FOR THE BLIND

ATTENTION DOG OWNERS: A dog wearing a harness with a handle is at work helping its blind partner travel safely. Please keep pets away. Always ask before attempting to interact with a guide dog.

By Law, obstructing a working guide can result in up to $50,000 in fines. If your pet is overly friendly and regularly jumps on people or other dogs, it could cause permanent trauma or injury to a guide dog.

An attack on a guide dog can be costly in terms of veterinary care, retraining, replacement, emotional trauma and loss of mobility for the blind person. Please don't take chances with others' safety.

If you are a witness to an attack on a guide dog team, you can assist by noting the description and location of the attacking dog. Please do your part to protect working guide dogs for the blind.

For more information and/or questions concerning guide dogs, please visit www.guidedogs.com.
